Leichhardt Highway

Together with the adjoining Newell Highway, the Leichhardt Highway links travellers from as far south as Melbourne and Adelaide via the border town of Goondiwindi to the Capricorn Coast and Central Queensland.

Along the way you'll encounter spectacular gorges, peaceful lagoons, inland waterways ideal for casting a line, world acclaimed botanic gardens, historical treasures and unspoilt natural treats just waiting to be discovered. Friendly locals in quaint country towns provide a warm welcome and useful tips for where best to fish, explore, and relax.

The Leichhardt Highway is ideal for travelling to or leaving the Gladstone Region via the Dawson Highway and Biloela. To the north, the Leichhardt Highway also connects to Australia's 'Beef Capital' of Rockhampton and the beautiful Capricorn Coast for the perfect coastal and barrier reef holiday.
